TOEFL Prep II Circle the word that best completes each sentence.

1. Most police departments have laboratories, where scientists (assail / analyze) evidence according to scientific procedures.
2. The new police chief would not (tolerate / impair) any joking around in the police station.
3. Everyone assumed Travis was innocent, despite evidence to the (contrary / suspicious).
4. A judge who feels unable to think (versus / objectively) about a case should withdraw from it.
5. The bomb squad was called after a (suspicious / contrary) package was delivered to the governor's office.

TOEFL Success Read the passage to review the vocabulary you have learned. Answer the questions that follow.

Bonus Structure—
This refers to the whole situation described in the previous sentence, not to any one noun phrase.

In 1979, two British farmers reported that, while sitting on a hill, they suddenly saw the crops below flattened in a perfect circle. They inferred that some great force must have come down directly from above to squash the corn and barley. This started a public hysteria about so-called crop circles. The patterns pressed into the crops (not all of them were circles) seemed to have no entry or exit points. Many people hypothesized that only alien spaceships could make such bizarre imprints. Others, including Britain's police, assailed such wild conclusions. They had a contrary theory: Someone was playing a big hoax. Teams of investigators took samples of the plants and the soil, trying to objectively analyze the crop circles as if they were a crime scene. Public curiosity often impaired the investigators, who had to tolerate busloads of tourists flocking to the circles. The farmers in the area, long suspicious of the police, approached the case as an instance of police versus the people. If the local farmers knew the circles were a hoax, they wouldn't say so.

1. According to the article, why did many people think that crop circles were created by alien spaceships?
 - a. The circles looked like they had been made from above and had no way in or out.
 - b. The observers in 1979 reported seeing a UFO land and make a crop circle.
 - c. The plants and soil inside a crop circle contained chemicals not found on Earth.
 - d. They were in unusual shapes and contained alien symbols.
2. Why does the author mention "a hoax"?
 - a. because one of the locals admitted playing a trick on his neighbors
 - b. because most people think that crop circles are evil
 - c. because police investigators thought crop circles were made by humans as a joke
 - d. because crop circles are probably made by secret government aircraft

- In some places, people who are pulled over for traffic offenses use (scandal / bribery) to avoid getting a ticket.
- President Carazza came to office promising (reform / integrity) of the prison system.

TOEFL Success Read the passage to review the vocabulary you have learned. Answer the questions that follow.

In many countries, few politicians have enough integrity to resist corruption and bribery. Because such practices are so prevalent, officials often evade any personal sense of guilt by pretending that everyone is just as corrupt as they are. Even in cases of really grotesque corruption, the kind that might cause a scandal in a less-corrupt government, the general population may not be shocked. Instead, they may cynically conclude that government corruption is natural and unavoidable. In this environment, the efforts of an honest politician to unmask corruption may be eroded by the public’s lack of interest, causing any efforts at reform to fail.

In this environment means “under these conditions.”

1. Why do people in some countries not react negatively to corruption?
 - a. because they feel it cannot be avoided
 - b. because they want reform
 - c. because almost everyone in the government is corrupt
 - d. because they have paid money to gain influence
2. What effect might a small scandal have in a country where government corruption is not typical?
 - a. It could make someone very popular.
 - b. It could cause a politician to become cynical.
 - c. It could cost a lot of money.
 - d. It could cause a government official to lose his or her position.
