HOW TO GET BETTER AT STUDYING ENGLISH

There are many different ways to [1] improve your reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills when you study another language. It is easy to make a [2] mistake when you write a letter or speak for the first time. You can get a friend who speaks the language well and [3] record them on your phone, then you can play it back at home and [4] review how they pronounce different words. Another [[5] tip many language teachers share is to [6] label things you use a lot, like your book or your backpack. This will help you when you try to [7] translate English words into your own language in the future.
