Frankenstein: Emotions and feelings

1) Read and discuss. What other feelings can you add?

In the novel, Frankenstein, by Mary Shelley, the way the creature is brought up by Dr. Victor Frankenstein and emotions such as: loneliness, sadness, happiness, curiousness, and hopefulness, influence both Victor and the creature, indestructive ways by forcing their decisions to be rash and insensitive. The creature does not know how to control his emotions, because he was never taught how to by Victor. Victor abandoned the creature, and this has caused the creature to make some very poor and irrational decisions. (Mc Collister, 2015, p.3)

2) Look at the following adjectives to describe emotions. Then, complete.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

13. I feel _____ when I wanted something good to happen, but then something bad happens.
14. I feel _____ when something good will soon happen, like when I get married next month.
15. I feel _____ when I see another person with something I want, like lots of money.

3) Throughout the novel, we can see that ….

Victor felt…	The creature felt…

4) What does the monster learn from humans about BEAUTY and SOCIAL CLASSES. Do you agree with his perceptions or not? Why?

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

What message is the story trying to give readers? Write your opinion in a paragraph and support your ideas with examples from the story.

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

LIVEWORKSHEETS