

1.

Click here to listen to the 20 words.

allot [ə'lot] v.

To allot something means to give it to someone.

→ The coach allotted each team five minutes to prepare a strategy.

2.

appall [ə'pɔ:l] v.

To appall means to horrify, shock, or disgust someone.

→ The boy was appalled when he saw the accident.

3.

cache [kæʃ] n.

A cache is a hiding place for valuable things.

→ The pirates kept their jewelry in a cache hidden in a cave.

4.

convenience [kən'vi:njənt] n.

Convenience is a state of being able to do something with little effort.

→ The Internet allows consumers to shop at their own convenience.

5.

dearth [dɜ:rθ] n.

A dearth is an amount or supply which is not large enough.

→ There is a dearth of money in my bank account. I can't afford a new car.

6.

deliberate [di'libərit] adj.

If a thing you do is deliberate, you intend to do it.

→ She made a deliberate effort to save money each month.

7.

dire ['daɪə] adj.

When something is dire, it is terrible and very serious.

→ The tornado created a dire situation for the small town.

8.

elapse [i'ləps] v.

To elapse means to pass, as in seconds, minutes, or hours.

→ A few seconds must elapse before you can take another picture.

9.

empathy ['empəθi] n.

Empathy is sharing or understanding another person's feelings.

→ The caring nurse had empathy for her patients.

10.

fanciful [ˈfænsɪfəl] adj.

When something is fanciful, it is unusual or unrealistic.

→ The girl had fanciful ideas about doing well in school without studying.

11.

gripe [graɪp] v.

To gripe means to complain constantly.

→ Lawrence always gripes when he has to do chores.

12.

grueling [ˈɡruːəlɪŋ] adj.

When something is grueling, it is very hard to do.

→ The climber faced the grueling task of reaching the top of the steep mountain.

13.

mundane ['mʌn'deɪn] adj.

When something is mundane, it is boring, common, or ordinary.

→ The man had the mundane chore of raking thousands of leaves into piles.

14.

opt [ɒpt] v.

To opt is to make a choice, especially when deciding in favor of something.

→ My brother likes chocolate ice cream, but I always opt for vanilla.

15.

outrage ['aʊtreɪdʒ] n.

Outrage is a very strong emotion of anger or shock.

→ Tommy was feeling outrage when his parents said he couldn't go to the dance.

16.

paltry ['pɔːltrɪ] adj.

When an amount of something is paltry, it is very small.

→ The poor man had a paltry sum of money.

17.

rectify ['rektəfaɪ] v.

To rectify something means to correct it.

→ I quickly rectified the spelling mistakes that I had on my essay.

18.

resourceful [ri'sɔːrsfəl] adj.

When someone is resourceful, they are good at dealing with hard situations.

→ After his boat sunk, Matt was resourceful enough to build a raft.

19.

sustenance ['sʌstənəns] n.

Sustenance is food and water needed to keep a person, animal, or plant alive.

→ Without the proper sustenance, the man will starve.

20.

tedious ['tiːdiəs] adj.

When something is tedious, it is long, frustrating, and boring.

→ His job involved a lot of tedious typing, filing, and organizing.

Name: _____ Date: _____ List #: ____ - ____

NOTE: This is not a quiz, it will be graded as an assignment.

Dictation. Listen to the words and write them after their corresponding number.

1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
8.
9.
10.

11.
12.
13.
14.
15.
16.
17.
18.
19.
20.	