My Fruitful Quarantine Days

Since I stopped going to school because of the pandemic, I asked my mother how I could help her at home. She said I could start by picking my dirty clothes and putting them in the laundry area where she washes our clothes every day. She also added that I could help her by peeling some vegetables she would use in cooking our favorite food. My mother also asked me to clean and organize my toys in the cabinet. She also reminded me that before leaving the bedroom in the morning, I should fix our beddings. I also help my brother and sister in washing the dishes, and in preparing the table before and after meals. Even though I don't go to school every day, I still read my books and write something on my notes. I also draw and paint different animals, flowers, and superheroes that I see in my books. These are the things that I do every day to have fruitful quarantine days.
