Directions: Write what happened in the story using the ice cream sundae to help organize your ideas.

The diagram is a line drawing of an ice cream sundae in a waffle bowl. The sundae consists of several scoops of ice cream. The top scoop is labeled 'Setting'. To its left is a scoop labeled 'Characters'. To its right is a scoop labeled 'Problem'. Below the 'Setting' scoop is a scoop labeled 'Event #1' with the text 'What happens in the beginning?' below it. To the right of 'Event #1' is a scoop labeled 'Event #2' with the text 'What happens in the middle?' below it. To the right of 'Event #2' is a scoop labeled 'Event #3' with the text 'What happens in the end?' below it. At the bottom of the bowl is a scoop labeled 'What does it teach people?'. A key is stuck into the top right of the sundae, with a label that says 'What is the name of the story?'. The key has a circular head and a rectangular handle. The bowl has a wavy line representing a drip of sauce or syrup on the left side.
