Alex's School Blog

I go to an international school. There are students here from all over the world. All our lessons are in English, except Spanish and French lessons, of course! There are twenty students in my class. We start the day with a general assembly. Each day, a student from a different country tells a story or a poem from their country. Our lessons start at nine o'clock. We have a break for lunch at noon and then we go back to class until four in the afternoon. I'm in the computer club and we meet twice a week. There aren't any computers in our classroom, so we go to the library and use the computers there. Right now I'm learning a new computer program to make our own games.

Laura's school blog

My school is a dance academy. It's just like a normal school except we have dance lessons every day as well as our normal academic subjects. It's a boarding school so all the students live here during term time. We start the day with breakfast at seven o'clock. Lessons start at half past eight. Every morning we have four hours of academic study and two hours of ballet class. We sometimes have more dance classes in the afternoons. Then we do an hour of homework and after that we usually have some free time before dinner. Right now we're very busy because we are preparing a dance for the final exam.
