

1.- PUT THIS WORDS IN THE CORRECT PLACE

DISPOSAL – FACTORY – RECYCLING – COUNTRYSIDE – POLLUTION – WASTE - ENVIRONMENT - BIN - BOTTLE BANK land not in towns, cities, or industrial areas which is either used for farming or left in its natural condition:

	unwanted matter or material of any type, especially what is left after useful substances or parts have been removed.
	the act of getting rid of something, especially by throwing it away.
	a container for waste.
	a building or set of buildings in which machines are used to produce large amounts of manufactured goods:
	the air, water, and land in or on which people, animals, and plants live.
	the process of collecting and changing old paper, glass, plastic, etc. so that it can be used again.
	a large container into which people put empty bottles and other glass objects so that the glass can be used again.
	damage caused to water, air, etc. by harmful substances or waste.

2.- COMPLETE THE TEXT WITH THESE WORDS

DISPOSAL - FACTORIES - RECYCLING - COUNTRYSIDE - POLLUTION - WASTE - ENVIRONMENT - BINS - BOTTLE BANK

T h e D a m a g e W e D o

A trip to the (1) used to be associated with greenery, flowers and fresh air by most people. In recent years, however, it seems that we actually use it for the (2) of whatever we have no use for anymore. An outing to any picnic area in the country will soon convince anyone that (3) of all sorts is usually just thrown on the ground, and no one seems to care what damage it does to the (4), despite the presence of (5) which have been specifically put there to collect rubbish. It seems we've forgotten that (6) should be a top priority if we want to enjoy nature. It also seems that, for some city-dwellers, carrying their glass to the nearest (7) is far too much to consider. To top it all, (8) are often built in the least sensible places only to add – it appears – to the (9) of the water, the soil and the air. What is all this leading to?