Pronouns
he his it these those them Conjunction that when as Connectors of Comparison
As well as similar to both like along with in addition to Connectors of Contrast
unlike however although while even though Connectors of Explanation
as a result because

When comparing similar objects or things, conjunctions can be used to like clauses and ideas together. Conjunctions can also be used when contrasting the differences between objects and things.
Pronouns are used to link ideas without making the links repetitive.

James has red hair. James has a fair complexion. James is tall. James is athletic. James is a good basketball player. James has a friend Alex. Alex is athletic. Alex plays soccer.

Along with having red hair and a fair complexion, James is tall. Like his friend Alex, James is athletic and likes to play sport. However, James prefers to play basketball while his friend prefers playing soccer.

Paper Planes, the movie and the book, have identical plots. The story follows Dylan and the struggles he is going through at school and at home with his family. At school Dyaln has problems with a bully called Kevin and at home Dylan's father is depressed after Dylan's mother died. At school Dyaln discovers he has talent for making paper planes. He qualifies for the World Paper Planes Champion in Japan. Dyaln makes friends with a Japanese girl called Kimi. Dylan needs to raise funds to get to Japan and spends a lot of time in the story searching for his winged keel. The movie and the book have some differences. These differences are minor. One difference is the Australian Championships. In the movie they are not as dramatic and we don't see how close Dylan was to being eliminated in the heat. We also didn't see how devastated the boy in glasses was who just missed out on making the finals. The two texts are very similar and most people would find them enjoyable.

Improve the text so that it flowsbetter. On the black lines use connectors from the list. On the red lines use pronouns

Paper Planes, the movie and the book, have identical plots. _____ stories follow Dylan and the struggles ___ is going through at school and at home with ___ family. At school ___ has problems with a bully called Kevin and at home ____ father is depressed after Dylan's mother died. One day at school Dylan discovers ____ ___ has talent for making paper planes ____ soon after in the _____ texts he qualifies for the World Paper Planes Championships in Japan. _____ making friends with a Japanese girl called Kimi, Dylan needs to raise funds to get to Japan and spends a lot of time in the story searching for ___ winged keel. _____ the plots are almost identical, the movie and the book do have some minor differences. One difference is seen during the Australian Championships. In the movie they are not ___ dramatic in the book ____ we don't see how close Dylan was to being eliminated in the heat. _____, we don't see how devastated the boy in glasses was _____ ___ just missed out on making the finals. _____ the two texts are very similar, most people would find them enjoyable.

LIVEWORKSHEETS