

The Butterfly Effect Examples in Real Life

Florida was one the biggest Cuban communities and they didn't support Al Gore nor Bill Clinton in the upcoming election. Al Gore lost the election by a tiny margin, making George W. Bush the 43rd president of the United States of America.

If these events had not taken place or had been different, what would have happened?

1. Cuban boy, Elián González, his mother and her boyfriend were traveling illegally into Miami. The current was strong and the swells were very high, which caused the ship to drown during the trip.

2. Elián and others were rescued by some fishermen, but his mother died.

3. Elián's father wanted him back in Cuba. However, Elián's relatives didn't want him to go, so the house was raided and the boy was taken by force.

4. The Cuban population in Florida didn't agree sending back the little boy, and many people protested because of the forced invasion into the relative's home.

5. George W. Bush has been blamed for the Iraq War, the deaths of millions, and even the domino effect that started ISIS.
