Hi Kieran,

How was your weekend? Did you chill                      all weekend?

My cousin arrived on Friday evening and we went to the beach. She is mad                      taking photos, and she took some at sunset.

On Saturday we stayed in and                      some really cool 3D models of animals. My little sister wanted to join                      , but she was really annoying!

Yesterday it was sunny and we went to the new skateboarding park – I                      into skateboarding at the moment! The park is a great place to hang                      and I've made lots of friends. Shall we go together?

Bye for now,

Laura
