

UNIT 6: Reading 2

Reading 4th

1.- Read

People around the world eat different food. People in many places eat special food on holidays. In China, people make dumplings for the New Year. People in Japan eat noodles called soba. Some people think eating soba noodles on the New Year is lucky.

In Italy and Poland, people eat bread for Christmas. In Poland, people eat sweet bread called babka. In Italy, people eat a sweet bread called panettone. Sometimes the bread has fruit or honey.

People also eat special food for birthdays. In the United States, people eat cake. But people in Korea eat seaweed soup. What special food do you eat?

Japanese soba noodles

2.- Choose

1. All people eat the same food.
2. Babka are noodles from Poland.
3. People in Italy eat dumplings for the New Year.
4. Some people think eating soba noodles on the New Year is lucky.

<input type="radio"/> T	<input type="radio"/> F
<input type="radio"/> T	<input type="radio"/> F
<input type="radio"/> T	<input type="radio"/> F
<input type="radio"/> T	<input type="radio"/> F

3.- Read and write.

1. What do people in Poland eat on Christmas?

2. When do people in Korea eat seaweed soup?

3. Where do people eat dumplings on the New Year?

4.- Complete the chart.

	Birthday	New Year	Holidays
You
Your partner

A chimpanzee eats a birthday cake.