Parrots are popular pets, and they need special care.

The African grey parrot is popular because they can learn to talk. MacCaws are more beautiful, but they are more difficult to look after.

All parrots need a warm, dry cage with lots of space. They like climbing so a tall cage is best. But Long-tailed parrots need an outdoor cage with space to fly. It's important to clean the cage every week.

Feed your parrot fruit, vegetables, nuts and seeds. You can buy special parrot food from pet shops. Don't feed them chocolate or sweets.

Parrots are intelligent and they often get bored. They are friendly and don't like being alone. So, play games with them and teach them to talk.
