To : dian_sehat@hospital.com
Subject : Pharmacist

Dear Sir/ Madam

I am writing in response to an announcement recently posted on Dian Sehat Hospital's website about employment opportunities for new pharmacy graduates. As you can see on my resume, I graduated from STIKES Sanus majoring in Pharmacy in January 2020.

During my internship, I had the opportunities to work in several setting, including decoding doctor's prescriptions and dispense the medicines for customers. My experiences enable me to develop strong skills that prepare me well for the challenges. In addition to my pharmacist skills, I have developed my leadership skills through campus involvement. As the president of the National Student Pharmacists' Association, I held several community service activities, including a forum discussion about medicines. Our organization also created the program that provides first aid training to people in the area.

I am very interested in commencing my pharmacist career at Dian Sehat Hospital and believe that my skills and experience prepare me very well. I can be reached by phone and e-mail.

Thank you for your consideration

Yours faithfully

Job Vacancy

People who are looking for a job can find information about the job vacancies in the mass media. A company usually places an advertisement in news paper or magazines when they need people to fill vacant positions. These advertisements give job-seekers all information about the job vacancies.

In addition to the advertisements, there are some other institution both government and non-government that do the same thing. These institutions are known as job centers or employment agencies. Their purpose is to make people know about the vacancies.

A job center is an official institution. It provides information and also accepts registration of applicants who need jobs. First each will be given a registration card telling everything about the holder. By having this, the holder is stated on the list of the Department of Manpower as a job seeker. Second, if there's a vacancy, he or she will be informed through the department and invited to apply for the job.

Really, getting a job is not an easy matter. Applicants should prepare themselves better by having good skills and abilities, good educational background, and determination to succeed.

(Jakarta Post, Jakarta)

The Indonesia government and world wild fund (WWF) have announced a bold commitment to protect the remaining forest and critical ecosystem of Sumatra.

WWF said the historic agreement represented the first-ever island- wide commitment to protect Sumatra's stunning biodiversity.

The commitment was announced Thursday at the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), world Conversation Congress in Barcelona and was endorsed by the governors of Sumatra's 10 provinces- the world's sixth-largest island- and also by four ministers.

Sumatra is the only place in the world where tigers, elephants, orangutans and rhinos co-exist.

The agreement commits all the governors in Sumatra, along with the Indonesia ministries of forestry, environment, home affairs and public works, to restore critical ecosystems in Sumatra and protect areas with high conservation values.

WWF, Conservation International, Fauna and Flora International, Wildlife Conservation Society and other conservation groups working in Sumatra have agreed to help implement the political commitment to protect what remains of the island's species-rich forests and critical areas. The island has lost 48 percent of its natural forest cover since 1985.

More than 13 percent of Sumatra's remaining forests are peat forests, which sit atop the deepest peat soil in the world; clearing peat forests is a major source of carbon emissions that cause climate change.

22. The following party is not involved in the commitment to protect Sumatra's biodiversity.
- A. The minister of forestry
 - B. The Agricultural community
 - C. The minister of public works
 - D. The 10 governors of Sumatra
