Grade 6
Grammar and Convention
Relative Pronouns- That vs Which

That vs. Which

'That' is used as part of a clause that is restrictive, meaning that the clause is essential to the sentence and without it the meaning of the rest of the sentence would be different. 'Which' is used as part of a clause that may add extra information or a shade of meaning, but is not required in the same way.

Fill in the blank with the best word: that or which.

1. The last movie _____ we went to see was 'The Box Trolls'.
2. I wrote down everything important in my notebook, _____ is blue and wide-ruled.
3. This computer, _____ Mom got me last Christmas, has the horsepower to play the latest online games.
4. The table _____ the peace treaty was signed on is now in the Smithsonian.
5. The truck _____ we saw driving dangerously had California license plates.
6. I finally found my blue pen, _____ had been lost seemingly forever.
7. Typing, _____ is not formally taught in schools anymore, is still essential in certain professions.
8. There are traditionally seven colours _____ make up a rainbow.
9. On the wall, I keep the racket _____ I used to win the school's tennis tournament.
10. That silly cartoon tie, _____ I got a few Father's Days ago, was a hit at my presentation!
11. She showed the leg _____ was broken.
12. The shirt was my favourite colour, _____ is blue.
13. The book _____ covers soil erosion is boring.
14. The magazine I read at lunch, _____ had pictures of goats, reminded me to grab goat cheese.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

15. A map would have made it easier to get to the city, _____ was far away.

16. They chose the rental car _____ had Florida plates.

17. My phone _____ connects to my email is most useful.

18. Chairs _____don't have a back are my least favourite.

19. My TV, _____I have always hated, is really small.

20. The cat _____ has a white stripe always swats at visitors.

LIVEWORKSHEETS