My family has never been on a trip in which weird things have not happened to us. On our trips, we have seen many crazy events that happened to people around us. We have visited many museums and there is always something wrong. I have never seen paintings outside their places, but the last time we went to a Mexican museum, apparently, there was a painting missing!

My mom says that she has experienced these things before. We have never known for sure what it is with our luck. My dad has never been on a trip in which a bug hasn't bitten him. He always gets chased by bees! My brother has gotten many strange things he has found in our trips. He has coins, letters, rocks, and all sorts of things. As for me, I have never had the need to throw up on our trips because I always fall asleep. Anyways, many things have happened to us but we have never felt bad about it. We always like to remember our
