My great-grandmother was born in 1901 in Wisconsin. She was born at 12:10 in the morning. She was the first of two children. Her father was a store owner, and her mother was a teacher. They lived in a small town. I once saw a photograph of her house. The house had two floors, and it was very simple. There was no paint on the house, but it was well built. There was a nice front porch with several chairs and some flowers. My great-grandmother and her father were in the photo. Her father was happy, but she was angry because she hated sitting for pictures. She was about three years old in the photo. She was upset but very cute.
