The English lesson.

It was Tuesday morning and I'd just walked down the stairs. Have you done your homework asked my Nan. Oh no, I forgot, I said. I felt worried because I knew that my teacher, Mrs. Williams, wasn't going to be happy with me and might shout! When I arrived at school I went to the first lesson. What's wrong with you Tyler? my friend asked. I forgot to do my homework last night and Mrs. Williams is going to be cross, I said.

After the break, I walked into my English classroom. Mrs. Williams was waiting. What's the matter Tyler? You look upset she said. I'm very sorry Miss I said but I haven't done my homework. Why Tyler? she asked. I don't know Miss, I just forgot. Well, at least you're honest Tyler, and not telling lies! Mrs. Williams said. If you finish it by tomorrow you won't have detention. I felt much better! Why did I worry in the beginning?
