

Les questions ouvertes avec rejet de la préposition

Si le verbe utilisé prend une préposition, celle-ci est rejetée en position finale.

I can't live without my music and CDs → What can't you live without ?

Your turn now : I. Ask the right questions

1. I couldn't live without my family.
2. I have most in common with my sister.
3. They were from Scotland.
4. I would be interesting in joining the fencing club.
5. I enjoy hanging out downtown with my friends.
6. I am fond of reading.
7. They are too talkative.
8. They are keen on playing ice-hockey.
9. He often looks after his neighbours'children.
10. I was thinking about something.
11. I go to school with my best friend.

12. He looks like his brother.

Ressembler à : look like

13. We are waiting for you.

14. I'm scared of hornets and wasps.

15. He is famous for winning the singing contest.

16. He is looking for his keys.

17. They are worried* about the test.

**inquiet*

18. Her parents are proud* of her.

**fier*

II. What's the English for... ?

1. Qu'est-ce qui t'intéresserait ?
2. Avec qui veux-tu travailler ?
3. Qu'est-ce que tu attends ?
4. De qui as-tu peur ?
5. Comment est-il ? (personnalité)
6. Comment est-il ? (physiquement)