

A red children's bicycle is shown from a side profile. The frame is red, and the wheels have black tires with silver spokes. A blue saddle is mounted on a silver seat post. The handlebars are silver with black grips. A yellow and black headlight is attached to the front fork. A black chainring is connected to a black pedal. A black chain runs from the chainring to a black rear cog. A black kickstand is attached to the frame. A black fender is mounted over the rear wheel. A black fender is also mounted over the front wheel. There are ten empty rectangular boxes with green arrows pointing to different parts of the bicycle: the seat, the handlebars, the headlight, the front fender, the front wheel, the front fork, the frame, the chainring, the pedal, and the rear wheel.

