Matt Damon is one of Hollywood most famous movie stars, but in the early 1990s he was struggling to be a success, and, over the years, life has not always been easy.

In 1996, he had to lose 40 pounds for his role as a drug-addicted soldier in Courage under Fire. While he was dieting, he became ill and had to take medication for several years afterwards. In 2000, he cracked a rib while he was playing golf in The Legend of Bagger Vance. Then, 12 years after losing weight for Courage under Fire, he had to gain 30 pounds to play a businessman in "The Informant".

He began studying at Harvard University but he did not finish because he began his early work, his first film worked in the romantic comedy "Mystic Pizza" and he had work in other movies as "Geronimo: An American Legend". Along with Gene Hackman and Jason Patric, hoping that Hollywood would take notice of him. It didn't. It wasn't until he won an Oscar with his friend, Ben Affleck, for "Good Will Hunting", in 1998 Hollywood began to show interest at him. The second came for his role in "Invictus". After excellent performances in "The Talented Mr. Ripley", Saving Private Ryan, and Ocean's 11", he was offered the lead role in 2002 as the assassin Jason Bourne in The Bourne Identity. From then on, his career moved in one direction only- upward.
