

Drag the name of the continent to its correct spot on the map.

Antarctica

South America

North America

Europe

Australia

Africa

Asia

Choose the correct answer from the drop-down box.

What do you remember?

- People who live in North America are called Americans
- You can find South Americans in South America
- When the visitors come Antarctica they live in homes called igloos
- When you do see people in Australia you can call them Australians
- People from Africa are called Africans
- People who live in Europe are called Europeans