

What a Wonderful World

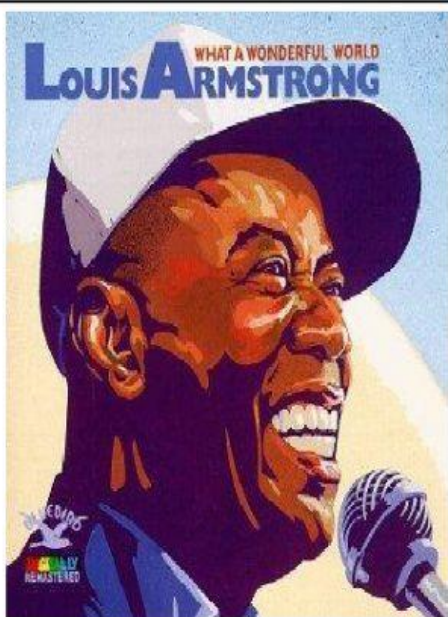

Louis Armstrong

I see trees of green
Red roses too
I see them bloom
For me and you
And I think to myself
What a wonderful world

I see skies of blue
And clouds of white
The bright blessed day
The dark sacred night
And I think to myself
What a wonderful world

The colors of the rainbow
So pretty in the sky
Are also on the faces
Of people going by
I see friends shaking hands
Saying how do you do
They're really saying
I love you

I hear babies cry
I watch them grow
They'll learn much more
Than I'll ever know
And I think to myself
What a wonderful world
Yes, I think to myself
What a wonderful world
Ooh, yes

Complete with one of the following words.

future equal get colourful

This is a beautiful song full of optimism. We may say that it is a 1) _____ song. The trees are green, the roses are red, the sky is blue and the clouds are white. Then there is a rainbow that makes the song even more colourful.

Everybody is 2) _____. Nobody is more important. The roses bloom for "me" and for "you".

The rainbow, that is a symbol of hope, is also present on the faces of people who feel happy and optimistic.

In the song there are people who 3) _____ on well. They are shaking hands and they say to one another that they care about each other.

There are babies in the song. They are the symbol of the 4) _____. They will grow up and they will learn important things that will help them to make the world even better.

Last but not least, we feel the presence of God in the lyrics of the song when it says that the day is "blessed" and the night is "sacred".