Chulalongkorn Uni Withdraws PhD of Thai Innovation Agency Chief

A decision by a Thai university _____ rescind, _____ the grounds _____ plagiarism, a PhD previously granted _____ a senior government official has stirred _____ calls for a local academic journal to retract the official's allegedly plagiarized article, published _____ 2008.

Last week, Chulalongkorn University _____ Bangkok decided to revoke the doctorate it had granted in 2008 to Supachai Lorlowhakarn, director of the National Innovation Agency (NIA), an organization operating under the umbrella of the Thai government's Ministry _____ Science and Health.

The decision followed an official university investigation, which, in 2010, revealed that Supachai had copied directly _____ other sources, including a technical assistance report published _____ the UN.

https://www.asianscientist.com/2012/07/academia/chulalongkorn-university-plagarism-case-supachai-lorlowhakarn-2012/

LIVEWORKSHEETS