

Adverb clauses

ADVERB CLAUSES  An adverb clause is a dependent clause that works as an adverb in a sentence. It modifies the main verb and tells us WHY, WHEN, WHERE, and HOW an action happens. Since it is a dependent clause, it starts with a subordinating conjunction.

Types of adverb clauses and subordinating conjunction.

01 Adverb clause of place where anywhere everywhere 	02 Adverb clause of time after before until by the time as soon as when whenever since 	03 Adverb clause of reason/purpose Because since as so so that that 	04 Adverb clause of contrast Though although even though 	05 Adverb clause of condition If only if unless
--	--	---	---	--

Identify adverb clause, subordinating conjunction, and type of adverb clause

Identify adverb clause	subordinating conjunction	type of adverb clause
1. The boy ran away when he saw the police.
2. I will only attend the event if you personally invite me.
3. He reads so hard so that he can graduate top of his class.
4. Wherever I go, I always see a McDonald's restaurant.
5. Although he loves to take her out, his father would not allow him.
6. I only watch TV if my favorite show is on.
7. It's my house. You can sleep anywhere you want.
8. I will call you after the meeting gets over.
9. The meal was so delicious that we made it again the next day.
10. Even though I was full, I couldn't stop eating.
11. Annie gets excited whenever she sees a dog.
12. They will not return your car unless you pay the loan.
13. I listen to classical music because it sounds beautiful.
14. Where there is a will, there is a way.
15. Joseph was very popular whereas his brother had more enemies than friends.		