II. Read the following passage and choose the correct answer to each of the questions.

People volunteer for a number of different reasons, ranging from learning new skills, having fun or making a difference. Some are completely devoted to the cause, while others simply wish to do something meaningful.

Many people volunteer abroad so that they are able to interact with new cultures, try new food, speak new languages and meet new people. As a volunteer, they will get a real glimpse of the local culture, allowing them to become a traveller instead of just a tourist. Volunteers often stay with a local family, so they will have the chance to get to know the local people and experience the traditional lifestyle for themselves.

Also, many people choose to volunteer because of the personal benefits that volunteering has on their character. Volunteers often say that the experience has made them a better person. In most cases, volunteers also become more concerned and aware of the problems facing the world and many feel that they were ignorant or narrow-minded before. Volunteers returning from abroad are usually more independent, especially if it was their first time to travel by themselves.
