7. Read the passage and choose the correct answer

Pushing in is seen as extremely rude in any public place in Canada. You should wait at the end of a queue, if there is one, for your turn. This is also true on public transportation, where you should wait until everyone has got out of the door before you enter.

When on sidewalks or in a grocery store's aisles, keep to the right (like you would when driving in Canada). Don't block the path by walking side by side with your companions or by putting a shopping cart across the aisle.

When opening a door, hold it for the person behind you. Don't let the door shut in his or her face.

Always leave an appropriate tip for the service person in a hotel or a restaurant. If you don't do so, other dinner guests at your table will feel extremely uncomfortable.

1. 'Pushing in' means _____.

A. you cut in the queue in front of the people coming before you
