Dame Agatha Mary Clarissa Christie, (September 15, 1890–January 12, 1976), was a British crime fiction writer. She also wrote romances under the name Mary Westmacott. Agatha Christie is the world's best-known mystery writer and all-time best-selling author except for William Shakespeare. Her books have sold over a billion copies in the English language and another billion in over 45 foreign languages (as of 2003). Christie published over eighty novels, mainly whodunnits and locked room mysteries, many of these featuring one of her series characters, Hercule Poirot or Miss Marple. She is a major figure in detective fiction for both her commercial success and her innovations in the genre. She was scrupulous in "playing fair" with the reader by making sure all necessary information for solving the mystery was given. Most of her books and short stories have been filmed, some many times over (Murder on the Orient Express, Death on the Nile). The BBC has produced television and radio versions of most of the Poirot and Marple stories. In 2004, the Japanese broadcasting company Nippon Housou Kyokai turned Poirot and Marple into animated characters in the anime series Agatha Christie's Great Detectives Poirot and Marple, introducing Mabel West and her duck Oliver as new characters.
