Once upon a time in a far away kingdom, a kingdom without a king, a beautiful princess sat to cry because a big bad ogre took her and put her away in one of the towers of her castle.

Then, one day a prince tried to kill the ogre but in the battle, the ogre killed the prince. Many princes tried to kill the ogre but it was impossible. The ogre was very, very strong!

After some time, when the princess was hopeless, a simple and ordinary man arrived at the castle. He did not fight the bad ogre; on the contrary, showed him a beautiful ogre girl and the ogre fell in love immediately. And as a thanking attitude, the ogre set the princess free.

The ogres, the ordinary, man and the princess got married and lived happily ever after.
