In the afternoon, when the rain finally stopped, Alvin asked his parents to take him to the playground. Mrs. Lee said that he should go there another day as the ground was wet and slippery. Alvin insisted on going so Mrs. Lee had to agree. Meanwhile, Mr. Lee stayed at home to do some garden.

While Alvin was playing with his friends in the playground, Mrs. Lee went to shop to buy groceries. At first, the children played hopscotch. Then they played hide-and-seek. Unfortunately, during the game, Alvin slipped and fell down. His head hit the ground. He cried so loudly that his mother could hear him. She ran out of the shop.

Worried, she decided to take Alvin to the clinic. Before going to the clinic Mrs. Lee made a call to her husband.

At the clinic, the doctor treated Alvin's wounded and told him to rest at home for three days. Alvin was upset. He regretted not listening to his mother's advice.
