

WORD-BUILDING - 5

Recently there has been a small  in the number of people out of work in Europe.

REDUCE

However,  is still the number one social problem facing the 15 member states of the European Union.

EMPLOY

Moreover,  of opportunity between men and women is still an issue that politicians in many countries have not come to grips with.

EQUAL

In professions such as law and engineering women are still  by their absence.

NOTICE

still discriminate against women in a number of ways even if their qualifications are the same as those of men.

EMPLOY

It would be a pity if the  of the EU on an economic level were marred by failure in the vital area of social policy.
