Persuasive Text

Direction: The text is not in order. Arrange the paragraphs by placing them in the correct order.

Firstly, fast food may taste great, but it does not provide enough nutrition to our bodies. It has too much fat, sugar and carbohydrates that do not give us the energy we need throughout the day. Often after eating fast food, people may feel sluggish and even still hungry. This goes to show that food taste great does not make one feel great.

Finally, being on a fast-food diet can lead to poor health. Fast food is known to cause heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes and many other related conditions. Having poor health leads to much sickness and one is not able to do the things they would normally enjoy doing.

How Good is Fast Food?

To conclude, fast food may taste great, but it is not worth risking one's health. It provides little nutrition and eventually makes a person obese. We must all make a wise choice to eat healthy in order to lead happy productive lives.

Also, eating fast food can make a person become fat and obese overtime. Most fast food is deep fried in oil and has many calories. Because fast food has a lot of carbohydrates, it gets converted to sugar and makes people fat. Being fat is not good as one cannot have a quality life.

Fast food is tasty, but is it really good for you? People must avoid eating fast food as it provides very little nutrition, slowly makes one fat and eventually causes many health problems.
