

Midterm Exam –Written: Listening

Speak Now 1. Midterm Exam.

Listening 1.

A: What time do you want to get up tomorrow?

B: Let's get up early. I want to get an early start.

A: OK. How about _____?

B: That sounds good. We can eat breakfast and then do something fun. It's our first day on the island, after all.

A: That's true. So what do you want to do tomorrow? What do you think about kayaking? It looks fun.

B: Oh, I don't know. It seems kind of boring to me. Let's do something more exciting. How do you feel about _____? It looks really fun.

A: Sure. Jet skiing sounds great. What time are the classes?

B: There is one class at nine o'clock, and one at eleven thirty. We can go to the _____ o'clock class, right after breakfast.

A: Perfect. Let's go to bed early tonight so we can get up early tomorrow.

B: OK.

Listening 2.

A: Hey, Roger. You have a new colleague at work, right?

B: Yes. I do. Her name's Sharon. She's great.

A: Really?

B: Yeah. She's really smart. She studied economics and marketing in school.

A: She sounds kind of serious.

B: Yeah. I guess, she is. But she's really _____ and funny too. Everyone in the office really likes her.

A: Is she new in town?

B: Yeah. I think she's from New York or somewhere.

A: Why don't you ask her to come here for dinner on Friday night?

B: Sure. That's a nice idea. What time is good for you?

A: Around _____.

B: OK. I'll send her a text message now.

A: That sounds great.
