Concluding Paragraph 1

To briefly paraphrase, police officers use a lot of force when it comes to the public because self-control is lacking, they mishandle their power and better guidance is needed. Pressure is applied by the police officers when dealing with the public. The police officers are unstable. Improved training is necessary for police officers because they manipulate their power. The people are easy to aggravate the police officers which makes them display such bad behavior to the public. These officers mistreat the individuals, they are required to protect. Hence, the police officers are supposed to protect us and better our community, but not mistreat us.

Thesis 2: Parents beat their kids because that's how they were disciplined growing up, they beat out of anger and they beat out of desperation.

Point 3

Conclusion Paragraph 2

In brief, there are various reasons why parents discipline their children. Parents beat their children because that's how they were groomed growing up, they beat out of anger and desperation causes them to beat their kids. Parents see discipline acceptable because they were groomed that way. The parents penalize their children because it relieves their aggravation. Some parents need to regulate their children because it gives them peace from a difficult situation. It is not right for a parent to harm their child no matter the circumstances, but in some ways, it is right, because it teaches the child right from wrong. All in all, parents, it will benefit your children nothing if you do not discipline them. However, remember to avoid disciplining them when you are angry! If you do not heed our warning, you will be guilty of abuse. I am sure you do not want to run the risk of having your children taken away from. So please discipline in love not anger!
