

It is okay with you when your partner spends time alone with friends or family

Your partner has the power to make you feel bad and uses it

Your partner has intentionally physically hurt you

You are afraid of your partner's temper so you avoid making them angry

It is okay with your partner when you spend time alone with friends or family

Your partner repeatedly asks you to do sexual acts that you don't want to do

Your partner likes the way you look and act and tells you so

When you refuse to do certain sexual acts, your partner puts you down

You think you can make your partner's problems go away

Your partner threatens to post private/nude photos of you if you break up with them

You can be honest about your feelings and talk about them freely

You worry that the relationship might end and would do anything to keep it going

Your partner posts private/nude photos of you on their social media accounts

You and your partner are protected from STIs and/or unintended pregnancy

Your partner repeatedly asks you to have unprotected sex

Your partner removed a condom during sex without your knowledge

You have stopped seeing your friends or family because your partner is jealous of them

You both decide how you spend your time together

Your partner has threatened to break up with you

You have performed sexual acts you didn't want to because of pressure from your partner

You usually feel happy in this relationship

Your partner believes that jealousy is a sign of love

Your partner threatens to hurt themselves if you break up

You have both agreed that you are a couple and trust each other to stick to it