

Questions for an Interview

Directions: Draw and drop the correct question to the right paragraph.

How do you make important decisions

I read on your website that you're one of the top data security companies in the US, and that you serve more than 40 Fortune 500 companies including some of the biggest tech companies like Microsoft and IBM.

What are your strengths?

I'm good at dealing with change because I'm a quick thinker. If new information makes us change our marketing strategy for example, I'll be quick to analyze the information and create a plan to make the changes.

Tell me about yourself

Are you good at dealing with change?"

What do you know about our company?"

My people skills are my greatest strength. I find it easy to connect with almost anyone, and I often know how to empathize with others in an appropriate way.

Where do you see yourself in five years?

I graduated with my degree in Economics two months ago. I chose that field of study because I've always been interested in finance and money, and a couple of family members told me it leads to great career options, too.

Directions: Choose the right answer.

I've experienced many changes previously. I handle the situation by quickly coming up to speed on the changes and applying myself to make them a success.

Over the next few years, I want to explore and develop skills in project management. In five years, I want to have gained experience in leading projects for major clients. I will be looking for opportunities to expand my responsibilities within this role to work towards my goal.
