

Listen and fill in with one word in each blank

(EF4th Ed sts Book- Pre intermediate)

 8.1

Hi Tracey. You know the answer to your last question, and it's 'yes'. You're your life more difficult. But it's also true that having a relationship with anyone is difficult, and in your you can at see what some of the problems are. I'm sure this man loves you and will you in all your in life, but it's true that he's already done all the things you want to do. It's not his , but it means that he'll never get as as you about, for example, a or having another . And everything you together he'll probably compare to the time he did it. You think carefully about what kind of you really want: someone who can support you and show you the in life, or someone who will life with you. You shouldn't make a in a . When you're about what you want, then you can if you're going to with this man or not. Good luck!