LIVEWORKSHEETS

TRUE OR FALSE

C.- Read and write (T) TRUE or (F) FALSE on the line

The study of human origins, involves figuring out how and when human beings began to exist. Scientists have many different theories about human origins but it is known it all began something like three million years ago from early ancestors that were primates too, like monkeys, gorillas, or chimpanzees.

The primitive humans did not have natural protection against predators like scales or sharp claws. Instead, they develop a super smart brain that they used to find solutions. Walking on two feet instead of four, helped them start using hands that combined with smart brains allowed them build shelter, clothes, weapon, and tools to help them hunt and survive.

There is one single theory about the origin of humans. _____

Humans, monkeys, gorillas, or chimpanzees are primates _____

Early humans had body protection _____

Walking upright helped become faster _____
