

Read the situation below.

Nini was sick and her father took her to the hospital. The doctor on duty checked her. Her temperature was high as she has a fever. Her blood pressure was also high and she felt a bit dizzy. She told the doctor that she vomited several times. When the doctor asked her what she had eaten in the morning, she told him she ate some fried noodles at the school canteen. The doctor suspected her of food poisoning. At the end of the session, the doctor gave Nini some medicines and one three days' sick leave.
