

I have a friend named Bill. He is the best person I know. He can fly like a bird around the park, swim with sharks, play basketball with one hand, and do any activity you can imagine.

It is so great to have him as a friend. Sometimes I wonder if he will travel to many countries and have fantastic trips. I would like to do the things he can do. My mom says all the time that if you really believe in something and put all your energy in that you can do anything you want.

Bill is exactly like mom says, he can do anything in the world, the only thing is that I would really like that my other friends and family could see him, but for now he is only my imaginary friend.

The End

Read and pick the correct sentences

Bill can lay eggs like a bird.
Bill can fly like a bird around the park.
He isn't an animal. He is a person.
He is an animal. He isn't a person.
He can't swim. He is afraid of sharks.
He can swim. He swims with sharks!
He plays basketball with one hand.
He plays videogames with one hand.
He exists in real life.
He is an imaginary friend.

