

At the Supermarket

Hello, I'm _____. I'm in the supermarket now. I'm in front of the fruit stall in the supermarket. In the fruit stall, there are many fruits. There are four bunches of bananas, five bunches of grapes, seven mangoes, one papaya, eight apples, and six avocados. There are no pineapples, melons, starfruit, and watermelons. I'm so happy because I can buy a bunch of grapes, two apples, and three mangoes.

Instruction:

- Read the passage.

READING COMPREHENSION

Answer the following questions.

1. Where are you now?

2. Are there many fruits in the supermarket?

3. How many mangoes are there in the fruit stall?

4. Are there watermelons in the fruit stall?

5. What did you buy in the supermarket?

Instruction:

Do this exercise in your notebook.