They stood the ladder pointing upwards to the sky. Soon the ladder reached the clouds. Awang started to climb the ladder. Rimbun said, "Good luck!" and asked Awang to be careful. The boy started to climb the ladder. Up and up into the clouds he went. The villagers watched.

Awang was so high that all he could see were clouds. "I'm on top of the world. I think I'm almost there, by the moon," he shouted. The ladder started to shake and wobble and soon it was falling and Awang fell with it! He fell among the trees.
