Unlikely Readers

Father: Good evening. Can you help me, please? My son is in the 9th grade and he [1] refuses to read. He complains that he doesn't enjoy reading. Do you have any suggestions?

Librarian: Yes. You could try comic books. A [2] ..... study has found that one way to help teens [3] ..... their dislike of reading is to [4] ..... them to read comics. They are easier to read because the pictures tell so much.

Father: OK. Oh ... I saw some kids looking at a book called A Diary of a Wimpy Kid.

Librarian: Yes, it's actually a [5] ..... of several books and kids love all of them. I think the [6] ....., Jeff Kinney, has satisfied a real need. Teens who didn't like to read have suddenly [7] ..... bookworms* and are [8] ..... to read. I'm sure your son too will enjoy Kinney's books.

Father: Thank you. You have been very helpful.
