II. Listen to a part of a radio phone-in program in which teenagers give advice on relationships between parents and children. Decide if the statements below are True or False.

Help around the house

It may be necessary to allow a teenager to have an untidy bedroom.

Most teenagers like their rooms to be untidy.

When children do jobs in the house, they do them badly.

Teenagers should be forced to do a lot of jobs around the house.

Parents should insist that their teenage children help in the house.

It is good if parents allow teenagers to have untidy bedrooms.

It is bad for teenagers if they don't have to help in the house.
