THE FOUR FRIENDS

Once there lived four friends. Three of them learnt many things in arts. The fourth was simple man.

One day they went to a forest. They saw the bones of a dead animal. Three of them were can try to bring it to life, use art. But the fourth didn't accept. They ignored fourth friend words.

The first person collected bones and makes skeleton. The second person made the body of a big lion. The third person was trying to put life in to the lion The fourth man ran away and climbed the nearest tree.

The lion came to life and jumped on the three men, and killed them. Who were on the tree was safe.

Moral of the story:-

Knowledge is important but commonsense is more important.
