Expository Writing: Sequencing Ideas

Instructions: Below are some sentences that go together to make a paragraph. Drag and drop the sentences in the correct order to make a sensible paragraph. Begin with the sentence that tells the main idea.

Answering Essay Questions

Conclude your essay by summing up your answer.

The following steps will make answering an essay question more manageable.

After you have completed your outline, begin your essay with a topic sentence that includes the keywords of the question.

Then, support your topic sentence using the information from your outline.

First, make a rough outline that includes supporting facts, details and information that you want to include in your essay.
