

Madam Tussaud's is the most amazing wax museums in the world that attracts more than 2.5 million _____ every year. This museum is located in _____ close to the Baker Street where the _____ of the well-known fiction detective, Sherlock Holmes, is situated.

Although the museum is one of the _____ attractions in London, Marie Tussaud, the founder of the museum, was _____. Young Marie worked in Strasbourg for Dr. Philipp Curtis, a wax modeler. Firstly she helped him to organise an exhibition in _____ and then started doing _____ herself. She made her first wax model (Voltaire) being only _____ old!

After the death of her teacher, Marie inherited the _____ of models with which she moved to Great Britain. Her first exhibition took place on _____ Street and consisted of no more than _____ models. In 1884 the museum was transferred to a new place where it is still

_____.

