Email to Martha

Hi Martha,

I really missed you yesterday. I hope you had a good time with your grandparents. I know you get on with them really well, but they cannot be as much fun as coming out with me!

I was a bit more adventurous yesterday. I went to Pat and John's house. They have got these virtual reality headsets you put on to play computer games. It was amazing, but after a while I felt a bit sick. I had to get some fresh air.

We walked down to the river. You know that place where there are a lot of boats – we went there. Pat saw some friends of his named Dave and Dan. They are twins and look almost identical, especially as they were wearing similar clothes. They invited us onto a boat which their father and mother own. Their boat is not that big and there were a lot if us in it. I nearly fell into the water when I tried to touch the ducks!

Luckily, we got back to land safely. We found a café near the bridge and had something to eat. We said goodbye to the twins and then went to the cinema.

There was not much on for us to watch. We did not buy tickets and decided to look around the town centre. You know how much I love shopping! I did not have much money, so I could not get the jacket I wanted. I had just enough to buy a necklace and some magazines.

Let us go together next time!

Janet

Dear Guest, Welcome!
By The Management

We are very pleased to hear that you have decided to stay in our accommodation on this small but beautiful island during your holiday. Here.'s some information to make your holiday as enjoyable and comfortable as possible:

1. The easiest way to get here is to catch a ferry from the airport. They leave every 20 minutes. Both Line Blue and Line Yellow stop here. However, the Line Blue ferry stops in fewer places and so takes less time. We are not a hotel and so there is no 24-hour reception. Please let us know your arrival time so that there is someone to let you into the property. It would be helpful if you could send us a text as soon as you board the ferry. One of our staff will meet you at the ferry port and take you to where you will be staying.
2. Your flat is well equipped. There are TVs in the living room and both bedrooms with programmes in several languages. The Wi-Fi is free. Unfortunately. the broadband speed is relatively slow. Thus, we recommend that you do not download films. The kitchen has everything you need for cooking and cleaning.
3. On the table in the living room, you will find a tourist guide. As you can see there is plenty to do on our island. You should have a go at horse riding and wind surfing. There is a charge for these activities. The gym is free, so you can go there every day. Please check carefully where it is safe to swim. The rocks around the coast can cause injury, especially if you jump or dive into the sea, look carefully at the map and avoid places marked with a red triangle. We do not provide anything, except coffee and milk, so you will probably need to go shopping. The nearest supermarket is only 300 metres away. It has a wide range of food, including eggs and locally grown fruit and vegetables.
   At the end of your stay, you must check out by midday at the very least.

If you stay longer, you will have to pay an additional fee. We will phone on the morning of your departure to remind you.

We hope you have a wonderful time—please enjoy your stay!

A Successful Party!

Most people really enjoy parties, providing they are well organised and everyone likes each other! There is nothing more disappointing than a party where nobody is talking to each other. 25 ☐

There are ways you can try to make the party work well. You should start by thinking about a venue, date and time for the party. 26 ☐ To keep costs down, people sometimes ask their guests to bring something to eat or drink, such as a cake or juice. 27 ☐ A variety of food can make it more interesting, especially if your friends come from different parts of the world.

Once you have decided who is coming, you can think about the type of party you want to have. If it is a birthday party, you could have a theme where everyone wears the same colour. 28 ☐ They can then choose different costumes which they can either make or hire. Beach parties are popular, easy to organise and to clean up afterwards. A picnic and barbecue are quite easy to prepare: everyone can help take the rubbish away at the end. 29 ☐

Try thinking of different ideas to make the party a success and ask people you invite for theirs. 30 ☐ The most important thing of all is to have a wonderful time with family and friends!

A It is also lovely to have a swim and sit in the sun.

B People are usually happy to contribute something to the party.

C Obviously, we also need to decide who to invite and how much we can pay for everything.

D Even worse than that is if nobody comes at all!

E Many people enjoy going to a fancy-dress party.
