THE BLUE JACKAL

Once there was a jackal was hungry. He searched of food to walk in a city. The dogs saw him and barking.

The jackal afraid and ran fast. He went to a house. That house had a large tub filled with blue dye. The jackal fell into it.

The jackal come out the tub and come back to the jungle. All animals saw him ran away in fear.

The jackal thought a plan. The jackal said, "God has sent me here to be your king". The animals believed what he said". Animals look him like a king.

One day the king sat in his court heard howling voice of jackals. He felt happy. Immediately he gave howled sound. The animals knew it's a jackal. They were so angry. The jackal was run away.
