PRODUCT OR PROCESS APPROACH?

1. _____ focuses on what you write.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

2. _____ focuses on how you write.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

3. _____ looks at the stages, which good writers go through.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

4. _____ focuses on the finished piece of writing instead of the different stages.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

5. _____ can really help when you want learners to write in a very fixed style, for example, a formal letter or a report.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

6. _____ can help if your learners have more problems with thinking of ideas, or organizing their ideas.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

7. Looking at an example piece of writing to prepare for writing the same kind of text, using a writing frame or writing a poem are the things the teacher can do in the class which are typical of _____.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach

8. Writing a plan, talking about ideas for writing, checking your work are the things the teacher can do in the class which are typical of _____.
   a) A process approach
   b) A product approach